

HAWAI'I REVISED STATUES 1-1

Common Law of the State;

Exceptions:

The Hawai'i Supreme Court determined for the purposes of establishing custom and usage, the Hawaiian custom must have been established in practice by November 25th, 1892. In plain terms, if the custom existed prior to this date it is considered customary, protected and an exception to the common law of the State.